

Privacy statement (GDPR)

We at Maritime Technical GmbH take data protection very seriously.

Therefore, this data protection declaration serves to inform you about the type, the extent & the purpose of processing of your personal data when using our website and/or in the context of the initiation or execution of a contract.

Personal data is information that relates to an identified person or at least makes identification possible. In any case, we treat such information confidentially and in accordance with the statutory provisions. The statutory provisions can be found both in the General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR") and in the Federal Data Protection Act. In this context, however, we would like to point out as a precaution that data transmission on the internet (e.g. when communicating by e-mail) is generally subject to security risks and cannot be completely protect-ed against access by third parties.

The Controller for the data processing as described below is stated in the imprint.

I. Personal data & purposes of data processing

When using our website and/or in the context of the initiation or execution of a contract we process your personal data in the extent and for the purposes as described below.

1. Use of our website;

a. Server log files;

We collect data about the access to our website and store this data as so-called "server log files" on our server. This includes;

- your IP address,
- your operating system in use,
- your browser,
- the website visited,
- the website from which you accessed our website,
- the date and time of server inquiry as well as
- the amount of data sent in byte.

These data will not be stored together with other personal data on your part.

Nevertheless, it is possible to assign the aforementioned data to your person through the storage of server log files. These data are collected & assigned in order to guarantee the security of our IT systems and to analyze any problems (cyber security).

In addition, we use this data for the statistical evaluation of the use of our websites.

The legal basis for this data processing is art. 6 sec. 1 p. 1 lit. f) GDPR.

b. Contact form;

In addition, there is the possibility on our website to contact us via a contact form in order to send us inquiries and other messages. If you send us inquiries via our contact form, your details stated on the inquiry form including the contact data you provided therein will be stored by us for the purpose of processing the inquiry and in the event of follow-up questions.

These are mainly the following personal data:

- Name and first name
- company
- address
- telephone number
- e-mail address

In order to ensure a targeted response to your message, we may forward your contact details to the competent departments within the Maritime Technical GmbH (Maritime Technical Group). Outside the Maritime Technical Group, data will only be forwarded if this is legally permissible or if you have consented to such forwarding.

The legal basis for this data processing is art. 6 sec. 1 p. 1 lit. a), b) and f) GDPR.

2. Contractual relationships

Furthermore, we process your personal data to the extent necessary for the establishment, execution, or termination of a contractual relationship.

The legal basis for this data processing is art. 6 sec. 1 p. 1 lit. b) GDPR.

3. Data processing by other means

Otherwise, we will only process your personal data if we are authorized or obliged to do so for legal reasons or if you have given your prior and voluntary consent to data processing.

This applies, for example, in the event that you voluntarily contact us and provide us with personal data, such as when you ask us for information.

II. Right of withdrawal

You can withdraw any consent to data processing at any time with future effect. Unless we are entitled to process data for another legal reason, we will delete your personal data after receipt of your withdrawal.

We will receive your withdrawal at the address given in the imprint.

III. Cookies

We use cookies to improve the usability and security of our website. Cookies are short text files that are stored on your computer.

We only use so-called TYPO-3 cookies. These are "permanent cookies" which enable us to identify recurring visitors to our website. These cookies remain in place beyond your visit to the website until you delete them from your browser.

If you do not wish to accept cookies from the outset, you can change your browser settings accordingly. The deactivation of cookies has no influence on the use of our website.

IV. Google Analytics

This website uses Google Analytics, a web analysis service provided by Google Inc. ("Google"). Google Analytics also uses cookies. The information generated by the cookies (including your IP address) is usually transferred to a Google server in the USA and stored there. Google will use this information for the purpose of evaluating your use of the website, compiling reports on website activity for website operators and providing other services relating to website activity and internet usage. Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google's behalf. Google will not associate your IP address with any other data held by Google. You can also prevent the installation of cookies in this context by setting your browser software accordingly. You can also object to the collection and use of your IP address by Google Analytics at any time with effect for the future. Further information can be found at tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout.

We would also like to point out that on this website Google Analytics has been extended by the code "gat._anonymizeIp();" in order to guarantee an anonymous collection of IP addresses. This activation of IP anonymization will cause Google to shorten your IP address within European Union member states or other treaty states of the European Economic Area Agreement before it is transferred to the United States. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be transferred to a Google server in the United States and shortened there. A personal reference can thus be excluded.

V. Google Maps

To display our address and your directions to our company, we use Google Maps on our website. Google Maps is operated by Google Inc., 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. When you visit our website, Google receives information that you have accessed the relevant subpage of our website. In addition, the data mentioned under I.1.a. of this data protection declaration will be transmitted. This occurs regardless of whether Google provides an user account that you are logged in to or whether no user account exists. If you are logged in to Google, your data will be assigned directly to your account. If you do not want your profile to be associated with Google, you must log out before activating the button. Google stores your data as usage profiles and uses them for advertising, market research and/or needs-based design of its website. Such evaluation is carried out in particular (even for users who are not logged in) to provide demand-oriented advertising and to inform other users of the social network about your activities on our website. You have the right to object to the creation of these user profiles. You are required to contact Google to exercise this right.

The terms of use for Google Maps can be found at www.google.com/intl/de_de/help/terms_maps.html.

VI. Processing of your personal data by third parties

The processing of your personal data is carried out by ourselves, by other members of Maritime Technical Group or by third parties commissioned by us or authorized by law. In the case of data processing by third parties, the third parties are also obliged to comply with the statutory rules and the data protection provisions laid down in this declaration. Apart from that, we will not transfer your personal data to third parties; in particular we will not sell them to others.

A transfer of personal data to a recipient in a country outside the European Union and the European Economic Area ("third countries") will only take place if it is ensured that the third country or recipient offers an adequate level of data protection. This is guaranteed in particular if the EU Commission has granted such a level of protection to the third country by means of an adequacy decision. Otherwise, we will only transfer the personal data to the third country if other suitable guarantees exist and if you have enforceable rights and effective legal remedies in the event of a breach of data protection law.

VII. Your rights to information, rectification, limitation, and erasure

In connection with the data processing described above, you are entitled to the rights described under a. to e. below, which you can assert at the address stated in the imprint. We will make it as easy as possible for you to exercise these rights.

a. Right to information

You have the right to ask us to confirm whether we process any personal data concerning you. If this is the case, you also have the right to request information from us about the data processed, including the purposes for which the data is processed, the recipients of the data and, if possible, the planned duration of the data processing. We will provide you with this information as precisely and transparently as possible and at the same time in a comprehensible and easily accessible form.

b. Right to rectification

If we have processed incorrect or incomplete personal data on your part, you have the right to demand that we rectify or complete this data immediately.

c. Right to be forgotten

Unless we are legally entitled or obliged to store or otherwise process your personal data, you have the right to demand the immediate erasure of your personal data from us ("right to be forgotten").

d. Right to restriction of data processing

Under the legal requirements (article 18 GDPR), you also have the right to demand the re-restriction of the processing of your personal data. With the restriction, your data will not be deleted, but will not be processed otherwise.

e. Right to data portability

You have the right to receive the personal data concerning you from us in a structured, common, and machine-readable format and to transfer this data to a third party ("right to data portability").

VIII. Automated decisions

We do not subject you to any potentially adverse decisions based solely on automated processing of your personal data. This includes in particular so-called profiling.

IX. Duration of data storage

Irrespective of the data deletion regulated under sections II. and VII., we will delete your personal data as soon as the purpose pursued by the data processing has ceased to exist or has been fulfilled and we are also not obliged to store the data due to statutory regulations.

X. Right to lodge a complaint at supervisory authorities

If you believe that the processing of your personal data is illegal, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority. The complaint can be filed informally with any supervisory authority. In addition to the supervisory authority of your place of residence or your workplace, the supervisory authority of the state of Lower Saxony responsible for Maritime Technical GmbH may in particular be considered. You can reach them under the following contact details:

The State Commissioner for Data Protection Lower Saxony
Prinzenstraße 5
30159 Hannover

Telephone: +49 (0511) 120 45 00
Facsimile: +49 (0511) 120 45 99
E-Mail: poststelle@lfd.niedersachsen.de

XI. Data Protection Contact Inhouse

To guarantee your data protection rights in our consortium, we have appointed a dedicated inhouse data protection contact: GDRP@maritimetechnical.com